

Nicholas Grover

Corporate Actuary | Division

What attracted you to work for PL Re?

For me it's important that the company I work for both strives to be ambitious in everything it does, but also invests in its people. I was always aware that PL Re has a great reputation for being both market leading and for looking after its people, and I'm very pleased to say my experiences to-date have been in line with this reputation.

Describe PL Re in three words

Collaborative. Friendly. Ambitious.

Where did you start your career?

I started out in the world of pensions consulting before moving into insurance, shortly after qualifying as an actuary, before finally finding myself on the reinsurance side of things with PL Re.

How did you find the virtual onboarding process?

The onboarding process has been absolutely seamless, from the first interview, to the support I received when relocating overseas, the inductions and the general welcome from my team. This was all no simple feat, given the current virtual environment, but PL Re excelled every step of the way.

What did you want to be when you were growing up?

I can't say that actuarial work was particularly high on my list of what I wanted to be when growing up; I'm not sure I even knew what an actuary was back then. But now I'm in this industry, I would strongly recommend it to anyone with an analytical mind and an interest in problem solving.

“ For me it's important that the company I work for both strives to be ambitious in everything it does, but also invests in its people... PL Re has a great reputation for being both market leading and for looking after its people...”

